SITE ASSESSMENT SECTION

Dear Mr. Messenger;

As a follow-up to Region 5's most recent initiative involving a review of the existing Illinois CERCLIS backlog, we are happy to provide the following information.

At your request the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's Site Assessment Program has spent the last three months reviewing agency files on approximately three hundred sites which presently remain active on CERCLIS.

This review has resulted in the identification of approximately twenty-eight sites which should receive a No-Further-Action designation. And an additional nine sites which although they should not presently be No-Further-Actioned, will require no additional Site Assessment investigative action.

What follows, is the listing of the targeted sites, their federal identification numbers, and the reason for the NFA designation. Should you have any additional question or comments concerning the following please feel free to contact me at the telephone identified above.
